Create a First-Rate Home Page

1. Analyze your current Home Page and what it should be saying about your business and services. Based on the module, what is missing, or needs to be added or enhanced?

Is it compelling?
Is it well-organized?
How clear is the navigation?
Is it dynamic?
Does it have:
A headline that says who you are?
Visuals?
A bullet-point list of benefits?
A call to action?
Introduction to other pages?
A content offer?
Social proof?

2. Based on your analysis in step one, draft content for your Home Page using the key points from the module and your business's keywords and keyword phrases.
Design Your Captivating About Us Page

1. Define what story you want to tell about your company. List your mission, goals, and product benefits.

Your Story
Your Mission
Your Goals
Product Benefits

2. Analyze your current About Page and using the provided About Page template, fill in the information that needs to be added or edited from your page.

About Page Template

(You don't need all of these elements and the order in which you place them is up to you):

Company Story & History:
Mission and Values:
Company Leadership:
What Makes You Unique:
Social Media Links:

Customer Testimonials:
Contact Link:

Links to More Information (it's good to link to your Start Here page):
Notable Awards and Logos:
A Bit of Personal Trivia (for website that are a personal brand, in particular)

Begin with Your Start Here Page

1. Using the provided outline, document what you need the user to understand so they will comfortably navigate to other pages on your website based on what they're looking for.

Here are questions to help you outline your Start Here page (you don't need to include all):

Who is this site for?
What is this page specifically for?
What will your user gain from the site?
Who are you?
What can people expect?
What is some of the most popular content for visitors to look at first?
How can users find you?
How can users contact you?
What are your most popular or important services?

2. List 3 Calls to Action that would benefit the customer and move them further along the sales cycle and engage them more on your website.

Note where you will put the calls to action on your Start Here page.

Call To Action	Location

Create a Magnetic Blog That Keeps Readers Coming Back

1. After reviewing the module, determine if you should have a blog page on your website and if you do, draft an outline of the components you'll include on the main Blog Page.

Components	Notes

2. If you already have a blog on your site, review it based on the guidelines in this module and note where you need to add or make changes.

Content that will engage and get visitors to read more
Builds reputation for expertise
Regular posting?
Titles and headlines that are clear and descriptive
Describes benefits of reading the blog
Includes a profile of the writer
Includes a Call to Action in each post
Categories for every post
Ability to comment (with your moderation)
Some things to include on the sidebar:
➢ Social media buttons
➢ 'Join me on' social media links
➢ Subscription form

➢ Social proof
➢ Information on products and services
➢ Contact form
Covers topics that are interesting to your visitors
Addresses common questions
Blog about your company or products/services
Incorporates relevant keywords
Uses keywords in titles and headers
Small paragraphs with headers
Uses large fonts and easy to read colors

Additional Critical Website Pages to Include

1. List the additional "Must Have" web pages for your own website, based on the needs of your business, and a brief summary of what you would include in each.

2. List the Business-Specific web pages needed for your site and what you will need to add or edit from what you learned in this module.

	Must-Have Pages	Summary
1	Contact Us
2	Site Map
3	Legal Requirements
4	Help/FAQ
5	404 Error Page

Business-Specific Pages		Summary
6	Products and Services
7	Pricing
8	Online Shop
9	Site Search
10	Testimonials/Reviews
11	Opt In Pages
12	Thank You Page
13	Press/News
14	Events
15	Resources

Best Practices to Consider When Writing Your Website Content

1. Take a look at your website analytics and note at least 5 pages that get the most traffic. Note which 5 pages have the highest bounce rate.

Next, take a look at each of those pages and, based on what you've learned in this module, note some changes you could make that might affect the traffic and bounce rates.
